Dear Ms. McCarthy

I would like to add my comments as a North Portland resident. The EPA and its partners have done a good job working on the plan over the years to create the current plan. The plan is hugely inadequate to clean up the majority of the Superfund site. Allowing "natural recovery" is not a good option for contaminants that are not broken down naturally. It's a misleading term that bears no scientific validity. All areas that are above contaminate levels that pose a health risk to humans through fish consumption should be dealt with by removing the sediment. Also, building the waste dump in the river is very careless. There should not be a toxic dump that is in an active floodplain, upstream from many communities, and unsecure. Also, all polluters need to be accountable for polluting the river. We deserve a healthy clean river for everyone to enjoy. Please move rapidly with a more aggressive plan to make our river safe for everyone.

Thank you!
